ABOUT SWANKY MINT

The Swanky Mint is a renovated dry cleaning and textile-dye factory dating back to the late 19th century. Combining the industrial machinery that littered the site with new technology, the Mint has created a comfortable eco-friendly atmosphere that makes it a very special place to visit. Our beautiful bar and relaxing terrace along with a mix of private rooms, private apartments and dorms offer something for everyone at unbeatable city centre value.

MINT HISTORY

In the second half of the 19th century the three Ondrušek brothers left their hometown of Veliki Luk nearby Olomouc in the east of today's Czech Republic. They were like many skilled craftsmen of the time, moving for work and adventure bringing with them their expertise and newly emerging technologies. All three brothers embarked for Croatia, Robert settled in an agricultural region called Jazvenik near Sisak, Albert in Osijek and Vilim in Zagreb.

Vilim Ondrušek (1854-1913) opened a dry cleaners in Zagreb where he put to use his experience in chemistry. At the time, Ana Brejch (born in 1864 in Strakonice near Prague) had also opened a dry cleaners in Zagreb. The couple later married and in 1885 purchased a house and land at Ilica 50, now the home of the wonderful Swanky Mint. In 1887 their dry cleaners opened for business expanding into steam operated dyeing of clothes and textiles.
